STUDIO #2 - Script Guide For Best Read and Pricing

Script Format

Scripts should be in .txt format (preferably not a .doc Word document) or you can simply paste your script into the email.

File names should be on the left hand margin and should be 7 characters or less for best pricing. No two files can have the same name on the same order. Worldly Voices is not responsible for files that are overwritten by another file with the same name)

There should be one TAB after the file name.

Next on the line would come any special directions for the reader including any pronunciations that may be questionable. (Studio #2 is not responsible for mispronunciations unless specific instructions have been given) These instructions must be in parenthesis (). Please do not put instructions in the middle of the text for the prompt as this will throw the reader off their rhythm.

After the instructions, please put your text for what will be read. ALL text for prompts must have punctuation of some sort following these parameters:

Scripts should NEVER be in ALL CAPS.

Single word "stand alone" prompts that do not get attached (concatenated) to another phrase: Start with a capital letter and end in a period - Buy.

Phrase or single word to start a sentence: Start with a capital letter and end in three periods (an ellipse) - To buy...

Phrase or single word to go in the middle of a sentence: Start with ... and end with Words that are not proper nouns should be in all lower case - ...shares of...

Phrase or single word to go at the end of a sentence: start with ... and end with a period - ...press six.

Only use the Enter key or Carriage return at the end of a prompt. Please allow the lines within a prompt to wrap around without ANY carriage returns or line feeds between sentences in a single prompt.

SAMPLE SCRIPT:

0001 Buy.

0002 ...shares of...

0003 ...press six.

04 (pronounced REDD - ing) ...Reading Railroad...

welcome.vox (Reading is pronounced redding) "Welcome to Book Finders of Reading Pennsylvania" thanks.vox "Thank you for calling!"

If your project is a long one, please send the text as an attached TEXT file (.txt). We regret that Studio #2 will no longer open Word documents (.doc) or Excel files (.xls) due to increase risk of virus transmission via these formats.
